History of the Gramlich/Crumly Family

Martin Gramlich, Was born in 1829 in Baden, Germany, married Zetzelia Celia Oad(Ott) born 1831 in Baden Germany, on May 1, 1852 in Cooper County, Missouri.

Zelzelia Gramlich died on Sept. 7 1885 and Martin Gramlich died in 1889, both are buried at St Johns Catholic church in Clear Creek, Mo. They purchased 40 acres of land on Dec 15, 1854, the north west quarter of the fourth west quarter of section fourteen, in township forty seven of range nineteen, containing forty acres, in Cooper county, Clear Creek, Missouri.

After they were married, they got in their wagon and went to their farm 2 miles south of Clear Creek Church, they lived in a log cabin. They can not be found on passenger and immigration lists alone or with parents.

Records from Clear Creek St John Catholic Church show names Martin Gramlich and Cecilia Ott. On the U.S.A. census, the census taker may have been English and since Martin and Cecilia have a heavy German accent, and he may have spelled the name as it sounded, Martin and Cecilia Crumley.

The census shows they were born in Baden, Germany, this is also true for court house records.

We find the name spelled Gramlich, Gramlick, Cromley, Crumley And Crumly.

CHILDREN

Anna Gramlich-born 1879

Lila Gramlich-born 1882

Henry William Gramlich-born 1884

Louisa Elisabeth Gramlich-born 1886

Lawrence Joseph Gramlich-born 1888

Josephine Sophie Gramlich-born 1893

Leo Louis Gramlich-born 1894

Joseph Gramlich-born 1896

Edward moved to Taney County and on October 7, 1893 they purchased 160 acres of land, North East quarter of Section twenty one in township twenty four north of range twenty one, west of the fifth principal Meridian(This land was north of present day Bronson, MO, Just south of Christian County line)

They went to school and church at Billings, Missouri, located in Christian County.

They moved to Canada in 1904. Ed Crumly and his son Lawrence, came from Billings, Missouri, in 1904, and homesteaded just south of Stalwart (now Frank Wolff's homestead SE 9-26-25 W2).

He shipped up a carload of household goods, machinery and livestock. Mrs. Crumly and the three youngest children came in June. The three oldest children, Lila, Henry, and Louisa stayed in the United States.

It is recalled that during the winter of 1904-05 the men of the district put in a fish net, 150 feet long, near the mouth of the Arm to help the food supply. Several men would go each time the net was to be lifted. One very cold windy day noses, ears and cheeks were being frozen every little while because no one had the proper clothing to withstand these sub-zero temperatures. Ed's Missouri cap did not quite cover the lobes of his ears, nor did his coat collar cover his chin, so he put an empty gunny sack around his head. Naturally, the wind and cold went through the sack, and the men would draw Ed's attention to a frozen spot and he would rub the frost with the gunny sack.

The following Sunday the folks gathered at the Crumly's for the weekly "get-together" and there was Ed, with two black ear lobes, his nose half black, and two cheeks with a great black spot on each one, and his chin, also black. The gunny sack had rubbed off the top skin, so Ed must have suffered severely, but his cheerful smile was still there.

Christina died on June 19, 1931 in Stalwart and Edward died on April 18, 1937 in Weyburn. They are both buried in the cemetery just north of Liberty.

History of the Dornian Family

Peter Dornian was born in Radauti, Austria and he married Thelina who was born about 1850. Thelina died about 1892 in Austria. Their son Constantine married Ekatarina(Catarina) Rack in a Radauti, a small town in the province of Rucovina, Austria. They had twelve children, five of whom survived and emmigrated to Canada with their parents.

Constantine was a tanner while his wife did most of the work on their farm outside of Radauti where they had a house. When work was scarce, Constantine went into Romania and found work. His wife and family went with him for a while but Catarina decided to return to their home in Radauti where they wouldn't have to pay rent. Around 1898, Constantine left his family in Austria and went to New York where he worked as a tanner for about two years. Times were very hard there and he eventually returned to his own country.

About 1900, Constantine heard there was plenty of work to be had in Saskatchewan, Canada. It wasn't long before the family found themselves on a ship sailing from a German port to Canada. They had very little in the way of material possessions when they arrived in Regina and they had very little money left. Constantine had quite a few jobs such as working on the railroad for a dollar a day. He finally bought a team of horses and did dray work. Catarina had a cow and some chickens and sold milk, cream, and eggs. In 1905, Constantine took a homestead in Bethune and settled down to do some farming.

Constantine died in Bethune on February 28, 1927 and Catarina died at Regina on February 16, 1922.
